SCIENTIFIC TARIFF, THIS.

MR. COOMES HAS A PLAN TO REMOVE THE QUESTION FROM POLITICS.

HE WOULD ARRANGE CERTAIN SCHEDULES WITHIN WHICH DUTIES MIGHT BE ADJUSTED FROM TIME TO TIME ACCORDING TO THE

Washington, Oct. 25.-Mr. Coombs, of Brooklyn, wants a scientific tariff; one that may be revised every year without disturbing business and which ment. He thought it an exceedingly awkward and imperfect one. By it the Government of Great of political discussion. Even before he took his seat as a member of the LHd Congress Mr. mbs had pondered this subject so long and so carefully that he felt able to embody his ideas in formal schedules, but the appointment of Mr. Springer as chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means seemed to dash his hopes of sceing his views adopted during the last Congress. A MOST PECULIAR BILL.

IT WOULD PRACTICALLY TURN THE PUBLIC FORESTS OVER TO RICH LUMBERMEN.

Washington, Oct. 25 (Special).-The keen anxiety of Chairman McRae, of the Committee on Public Lands, to rush through the bill "to protect public forest reservations" does not seem to be shared by a majority of the House of Representatives. The measure was brought forward again to day under a committee of the ruling of Speaker Crisp which surprised some of the other parliamentarians of the House, but which under the rules as they now stand appears to be defensible. The title of the bill is a misnomer, for instead of being a bill "to protect public forest reservations," it is calculated, if enacted into law, not only to despoil them, but also all the other timber lands owned by the United States. Section 7 of the bill provides that "any timber on the pub-lic lands not within a forest reservation may be sold by order of the Secretary of the Interior in the same manner as is heretofore provided in this act, provided that it shall be first shown that such cutting will not be injurious to the public interests, and provided, further, that no timber on the public lands shall be disposed of except in accordance with the provisions of this act."

Chairman McRae and his committee seem to be imbued with the belief that the only way in which the public forest reservations can be protected and preserved is to turn the lumberman loose upon them and allow him "to utilize the timber of commercial value and preserve the forest cover from destruc-tion," for the bill provides for this very thing. It also provides "that no timber of commercial value shall be sold except to the highest bidder on sealed proposals, after one appraisement, as hereinafter provided, at not less than the appraised value thereof." Not the least peculiar of the many exceedingly peculiar provisions of this most peculiar bill is that there is no "hereinafter provided" in it. -not a paragraph or sentence to show how or by whom or upon what basis the "one appraise-ment" shall be made. Under existing law any person can obtain title to 160 acres of timber land of the United States by purchase. Under the proposed law no person could buy an acre of such land on any terms, and in order to enable him to buy timber from any public land of the United States it would be necessary to have public notice given for at least thirty days in a newspaper of general cir-least thirty days in a newspaper of general circulation, published at the capital of the State or Territory, and also a newspaper published in the county in which the timber was situated, and to have a number of other requirements compiled with, and then if he should happen to be the highest bidder he would be allowed to buy the timber for cash.

This provision would give capitalists and corporations an extraordinary advantage, and it would not take long for them to acquire title to all the valuable timber remaining on the public lands of the United States outside the forest reservations. In his speech in defence of the bill Mr. McRae asserted that Section 7, which brings all timber owned by the United States under the provisions of the proposed act, was added at the suggestion of Secretary Hoke Smith. He also asserted that "this bill substantially meets the approval of the American Forestry Association," but he offered no proof in support of the assertion. Mr. McRae said that the total area of the forest reservations to which the bill primarily applies is about 17,000,000 acres. Among these is the extension of the Yellowstone Park, amounting to 1,250,000 acres. The bill is bilterly opposed by the Representatives of every State from South Dakbta westward to the Pacific. When Mr. McRae cailed the bill up to-day he moved that all debate on the pending section be limited to five minutes, his apparent intention being to force the measure through, if practicable, before the expiration of the morning hour. Mr. Payne moved to amend by making the limit minutes. The remainder of the morning hour was consumed in a vaia effort to obtain a quorum by means of tellers, and the bill then went over until to-morrow. It is not the sort of a measure that ought to be rushed through the House, under whip and spur, without thorough discussion and consideration, if at all, and probably it will not be.

Every one who believes in a decent and Every one who believes in a decear and an honest Sinte government should register to-morrow. Then he can vote. DISCUSSING CLEARING HOUSE CERTIFI-CATES.

Banking and Currency to-day heard Representative Brawley, of South Carolina, in support of his bill to suspend the operation of laws imposing a tax of 10 per cent upon notes issued by banks

CRUISER.

CRUISER. Washington, Oct. 25.-The House Committee on during the late period of stringency-August to

Mr. Brawley said that during this period a number of South Carolina banks had issued clearing house certificates, which had circulated throughout the State and done much good. The Collector of Internal Revenue had been making inquiries as to the amount of such notes issued, with a view, it was understood, of collecting the tax of 10 per cent levied on State bank issues. The Government did not provide a currency of sufficient elasticity to meet the stringency. The banks were forced to do something. The action of the Collector Internal Revenue had hurt the circulation of the certificates.

Mr. Johnson (Rep., Ind.) asked if Mr. Brawley or any member of the committee had consulted the Commissioner of Internal Revenue in regard to those issues and ascertained whether or not he had decided to try to collect a tax on them. No one had. Mr. Brawley thought that the action of the collector showed that the Treasury Department would endeavor to tax these notes.

Mr. Warner (Dem., N. Y.) said that he was in favor of reporting the bill and removing the doubt, He did not think that the Government should take advantage of any technicality in the law and tax these notes, which had been issued in a case of necessity. The New-York banks had issued $40,-60,000 worth of notes during the period of stringency. He did not know whether or not they were of the character of those issued in South Carolina. The New-York bankers and the people he represented did not think the New-York notes taxable, and he had not been asked to raise the question on them. He would vote to relieve the South Carolina bankers.

After the hearing the committee considered the bill, and referred it to the sub-committee to report on Friday, and then adjourned to that day. favor of reporting the bill and removing the doubt.

PRINCETON TO PLAY HER GRADUATES. SHE WILL NOT ABIDE BY THE OBNOXIOUS RULE -NO DEFINITE ACTION AT THE MEETING LAST NIGHT.

A crowd of college men and others interested in inter-collegiate football affairs througed the corridors of the Windsor Hotel last night for a special meeting of the asso-ciation, to cierr up many vexed questions. The Yale and Wesleyan delegations were early on hand, and so was Andrew Freedman, in charge of Manhattan Field, as well as a committee from the University Athletic Club. The committee was supposed to be a soft of advisory board. as a committee from the University Athletic Club. The delegates that were there discussed the objects of the meeting. Princeton and the University of Pennsytvania, who hadn't yet turned up, are stanch friends and oppose the undergraduate rule which has caused so much trouble, and which Yale and Wesleyan are working so hard

Munn, of Princeton, finally reached the Windsor at 11:20 p. m. and reported that they had been delayed by a railroad wreck on the Pennsylvania road. J. C. Bell, J. McN. Thompson and H. A. Mackie, the men expected from the University of Pennsylvania, hadri't arrived at midnight. After a conference of the Yale, Princeton and Wesleyan men it was decided to postpone the meeting until to-day.

Captain Hinkey was positively frigid when asked regarding Yale's course. He said that he could not speak for Yale, and that Yale had nothing to do with Wesleyan Captain Trenchard, of Princeton, was courteous to everybody, and he did not mince matters, for he intimated that Princeton would play King and Balliet, and that if Yale and Wealeyan did not like it they could do the next best hing. Manager Judd denied the rumor that Wesleyan would leave the field in case Princeton played King and Balliet on Saturiay. He said that Wesleyan had not decided what she would do. When it comes to a pinch, Wesleyan will probably play under protest. less the game, and that will be the last heard of the profest.

CADETS GETTING READY FOR YALE.

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 25 (Special), --Corbin, Yale's former coach, gave the cadets some points here to-day. With Laurie Bilss, he watched the practice game with with laurie Bilss, as watched in practice the second eleven and constantly directed attention to the weak spots of the team. The cadets are hard workers, but are greatly handicapped for want of time to practise. Stacy is a cir best ground-gainer, and with the exception of Carson, is the only man on the team who can make a brilliant run. Ames makes a splendid centre, and he is brilliant run. Ames makes a splendid centre, and he is rapidity getting into playing condition. Smith and King are both disabled. Neither will probably play again this season. Lott, who has taken Smith's place, is considered a strong player. The game with Yale naxi Saturday will bring out the strength of the cadets. Yale defeated Amherst by a score of 52 to 0, and West Point defeated the same college by a score of 12 to 4, so that the relative strength of the teams can be fairly gauged.

POOR PLAY BY HARVARD'S ELEVEN.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 25 (Special).—The Harvard Varsity defeated this afternoon in two ten-minute halves a team composed mostly of the graduate coachers by a score of 6 to 0. It was a poor exhibition of football for the Crimsons. They failed to score in the first half, time being called with the bail on the five-yard line. Another rush would have scored the touchdown. Hoag made the only score in the second half when he found a hole between Warren and "Slugger" Melson and ran twenty yards. Harvard lost several good chances to score by inexcusable fumbling and dropping of the ball, on the graduate team were such well-known football men as Hallowell, Mason, Highlands, Blanchard, Upton, Harding, Lake and McNear.

The report that Upton has been engaged to coach the Williams team and will not, after all, play at end rush this year as expected, seems to be only too true, though Upton may yield to persuasion and agree to train. Harvard men are greatly disappointed. Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 25 (Special).—The Harvard Varsity defeated this afternoon in two ten-minute halved MANHATTAN FIELD TO BE A SKATING RINK. Andrew Freedman, receiver of the Manhattan Athletic Club and custodian of Manhattan Field, promises New-Yoraces, who are fond of skating, a rure treat for the winter. As soon as the Yale-Princeton football game had been decided Manhattan Field will be flooded and the place arranged for a model skating rink. A handsome club-house will be fitted up and carnivals and races will be arranged. He expects to arrange a series of races between Johnson, Hagen and Donoghue.
